EFFORT TO RETRENCH IS LAUNCHED IN PHILIPPINES

Big Cuts In Estimates Made By Government To Effect Saving

QUEZON'S VIEWS

President Of Senate Is Heard On Question Of Independence

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, June 23.—The precarious financial situation in the Philippines has caused drastic cuts in the estimated expenditure of the government, which is attempting to save 20,000,000 pesos and to increase the debt limit to 50,000,000 pesos.

In a recent cablegram to the War Department, General Wood and Mr. Forbes urged an immediate increase in the debt limit as the only means of tiding the government over the emergency. Similar recommendations had been made previously by Acting Governor Yeater. The Wood-Forbes cable stated that the government was facing bankruptcy, and, apparently as a result of their message, the House of Representatives at once passed a bill raising the debt limit from 15,000,000 to 30,000,000 pesos. Recent press dispatches stated that the measure would be rushed through the Senate. According to Acting Governor Yeater, an attempt will be made to amend the bill so as to raise the total debt limit to 50,000,000 pesos.

CUT BONUSES

It is intimated that the ten percent bonus which has been paid to government employes will probably be cut off next month. The bonus was formerly fifteen percent but was recently reduced by one-third. The dominant party appears to be reluctant to cut bonuses, as the next elections are looming up, but it is generally believed that the reduction will have to be made.

Further economies now being considered include the stoppage of new public works, the curtailment of enterprises like the National Development Company; the National Cement Company, and the National Coal Company, and the closing of the Philippine commercial agencies in the United States.

Construction of schools will also be held up, it is said, but the road and bridge improvements will be continued if possible.

QUEZON INTERVIEWED

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Manila, July 2.—Mr. Manuel Quezon, President of the Philippine Senate, expressed the following views to an American interviewer on the question of the independence of the Philippines:

"If independence is not given us now," said Mr. Quezon, "it will be necessary for the United States to set a date when we may expect it. It would be impossible to go back on this promise forever; that would cause a revolution.

"The Philippines will accept now from the Wood-Forbes Mission a delay of ten or twelve years, but not longer. They realise that they have many short-comings and have made many mistakes. They will accept this delay if the present self-government is not taken away from them.

"They will agree to financial guidance by United States experts, for they admit that they have made a mess of their national finance and need help. They will accept Americans, perhaps, in other departments where there is a recognised lack of efficiency; but the Jones Law must not be changed materially or there will be trouble.

"There is a strong feeling now toward Americans. This is due in a large measure to the Harrison Administration. If it could be explained to our people that they cannot have independence now because of the complicated international situation on the Pacific, they would accept that. What they hate to have harped on is their unfitness for self-government. They hate to have their mistakes held up to the world. National and race pride are involved, and the real solution is psychological rather than economic. If America gave us independence, she would gain the eternal friendship of our people.

UNDERSTANDING NEEDED

"If war came with Japan (which I think unlikely), the Filipinos would first side with America. If you hold us against our will and

Woman Justice Of Peace In Terrible Predicament, But Groom Solves It

Miss Alice O'Neill, who has the distinction of being the first woman Justice of the Peace in Greenwich, Conn. The principal work of a Justice of the Peace in Greenwich is marrying folks, as the old New England town is a famous Gretna Green for New York and New England couples. Miss O'Neill, who is still in her twenties, wondered what would happen at the first marriage she performed. It has been the custom of Greenwich justices to kiss the brides. Should she uphold a precedent and kiss the groom? The first groom, however, decided the question for her by gallantly kissing her hand.

BANKERS HERE NOT DISTURBED BY STRINGENCY

Flurry Follows Closing Of Banque Industrielle And Large Withdrawals

RUN ON BANK OF CANTON

Formation Of Exchanges And Trust Companies Causes Shortage Of Money

Following upon the suspension of payment by the Banque Industrielle de Chine and the closing of its branches here and elsewhere, disturbed financial conditions in Shanghai, said to have no relation to the closing of the Banque Industrielle de Chine but to have developed locally, resulted yesterday in runs on the Bank of Canton and other Chinese banks and in a sharp rise of interest rates following a general tightening of money in all quarters.

Formation of numerous trust companies and exchanges are given as the cause of the tight money market.

Foreign and other banks yesterday adopted means yesterday to meet any emergencies that may arise.

It was said authoritatively last night that nothing in the nature of a crisis impends and that fore gn banks here generally are in a position to control any condition that may arise.

ASSURANCES GIVEN

Dispatches from Peking and reports from other sources carry reassurances concerning the value of notes of the Banque Industrialle de Chine and it is confidently expected that arrangements to cash all outstanding notes of the bank will be completed today. This question is being dealt with by the Ministry of Finance at Peking and the Chinese Bankers Association there with the French legation.

The matter of caring for outstanding notes of the Banque Industrielle de Chine in Shanghai was taken up at a meeting yesterday of the Chinese Bankers Association of Shanghai and the outcome of this was that it was decided to send a message to Peking before announcing any definite course of action to take in cashing the notes.

NO AGREEMENT

Manager H. Barr of the local branch of the Banque Industrielle said last night that no agreement had been concluded with the Chinese Bankers Association and he could not make any statement.

Foreign bankers here are not expected to take any action on the Banque Industrielle bank notes. It is understood that a

Even Weather Man Smiles As Americans Celebrate On The Glorious Fourth

Receptions At Consulate-General, American And Columbia Clubs, Ball Games And Dances Feature International Observance Of Day

The American community of Shanghai, assisted by many friends of other nationalities, enthusiastically celebrated the Fourth yesterday with official and informal receptions, baseball games, dinner parties and dancing. One of the most fervid celebrators of the day was the Weather Man, who turned on the steam until the mercury fizzed ardently up to the 94.6 mark, the highest point for the year.

Starting with the official reception at the Consulate yesterday morning the scheduled program was carried through in highly successful fashion, winding up last night with many dinner parties at the various hotels and cafes, and dancing which lasted until the early hours today.

The streets, tramcars, ships in the harbor and most places of public and social gathering displayed the Stars and Stripes in considerable profusion while hongs of other nationals also flew their colors, the five-barred banner of the Chinese Republic being much in evidence.

RECEPTION AT CONSULATE

The official Consular reception was held at 11:45 a.m., when American Consul-General Cunningham and Admiral Strauss received the representatives of other countries, members of the American colony and their friends. The flagship Huron's orchestra was in attendance, furnishing patriotic music for the occasion. The toast to the President was given by the Admiral, after which the Star Spangled Banner was played and the reception closed at 12:30 to allow the guests to proceed to the American Club, where the officials and members were "at home" to their friends.

Among those attending the Consular reception were Sir Everard Fraser, British Consul-General; Judge Skinner Turner and Judge Peter Grain, of the British Supreme Court; Colonel R. Marr Johnson; Major Canning; Mr. A. Brooke Smith, Chairman of the Municipal Council; British Assessor Blackburn; M. Dufaure de la Prade, French Consul; Acting Italian Consul Ferrajola; representatives of the Chinese Bureau of Foreign Affairs; Japanese Assessor Hayashida; the Chinese Magistrates of the Mixed Court and many other Chinese and foreign officials and prominent members of the local communities.

AMERICAN CLUB THRONGED

The celebration at the American Club more than maintained the institution's traditions of hospitality and good fellowship and was featured by a larger attendance than ever. There was speaking, song and a buffet dinn of generous and tasty character and the program and arrangements reflect much credit to those in charge.

The President, Dr. W. T. Findley, presided, welcoming the official guests, members and their friends and introducing the speakers. Admiral Strauss, Pay Commander H.A.D.J. Gyles, of the British Navy, French Consul Dufaure de la Prade and Captain Richardson, U.S.N., made brief speeches, which were followed by the singing of the various national anthems.

ADMIRAL STRAUSS SPEAKS

"Upon my return to Shanghai after many years it was a pleasant surprise to find here an American Club," said Admiral Strauss, who was the first speaker. "There was an English Club and a German Club and a French Club, but no social organisation that had the good sounding name American. The satisfaction, of course, arises from the fact that there are enough Americans here to form a club, and that means that our importance in the foreign commercial world has increased enormously. I hope and believe that it will go on increasing, and that finally we shall find such evidence of our commerce in all of the great ports of the world.

"The Fourth of July is our day. It celebrates the anniversary of the day in which we cast off all leading strings and set forth into the world to make a place for ourselves. Our strides have been getting longer and longer and now we have achieved a pace that will surely put us in the first rank in the race.

"When I first cruised in the Orient I doubt if there were more than a dozen Americans in Shanghai. I don't think there were more than two in Hongkong, and this was only a generation ago. Our naval representation was in keeping. We had three old wooden

Council And Rice Dealers In Exchange Of Ultimatums; Strike Complete Today?

Shops In Chinese Territory Declare They Will Cease Business This Morning; Many Already Sold Out

Council and rice shop keepers each hurled down the gauntlet last night and in consequence the dealers in Chinese territory surrounding the Settlement are expected to cease business this morning. With no rice on sale anywhere throughout the city there is every prospect of trouble, according to those closely in touch with the situation and measures are being taken by both Chinese and municipal authorities to meet it.

The Council at a meeting held last evening decided that no further negotiations with regard to the protested licensing regulations until the shops in the Settlement resume business. The merchants in Chapei and Nantao at a meeting yesterday determined to stop selling rice this morning unless the Municipal body modified its stand on the licensing question.

It was the belief of some of the local officials that the dealers in Chinese territory will not support their brethren in the International and French Concessions, who have already stopped the sale of rice, but it was reported last night that some of the shops in Chapei ceased sales yesterday and that stocks were very low in most of the retailing establishments. There are between 50 and 60 rice boats in the river and creeks here, averaging about 100 piculs to the vessel, and much grain is believed to be stored in warehouses outside the Settlement limits, so that, though boats from the interior have arrived in constantly decreasing numbers during the past week, there is a sufficiency of the cereal to provice the city for some days if it is made available.

NO MORE CONCESSIONS

The attitude of the Council is that it has been as conciliatory and generous in its offers as could be asked. Its letter of June 25, affirming that no hardships are to be worked upon licensees and promising concessions in the way of tabulation of stocks—figures on which would be taken from the guild—the Councilmen feel to have answered every objection which the shop keepers have raised.

In the Rice Dealers' Guild a split has come between the members of the committee and the main body of the organisation. The committeemen have been urging moderation, exhorting the shop keepers not to strike and asking delay of any further action pending an amicable settlement of the dispute. The shop keepers, who have been voting to support the strike move and defeat the licensing regulation are now said to have become absolutely intractable and are accusing the committee of being "bought over" by the other side. It has been suggested that the committee resign.

CHINESE SHOPS SOLD OUT

First quality rice was not obtainable in many of the Nantao and Chapei shops even on Sunday and it was announced last evening that practically all of the inferior grades had been sold out. The Frenchtown establishments, though

THE Polish threat to occupy Upper Silesia and subsequent action to carry out the same has turned the country again into a war-ridden region. The armed rebel insurgent force, followers of Korfanty, have spread terror throughout the territory. The above photo, one of the first to reach this country from the disturbed area, pictures a typical scene in Upper Silesia when the insurgents sought to block the advance of troops seeking to down the rebellion caused by the results of the plebiscite. Below insurgents are shown manning a machine gun on a roadway in the terrorised zone.

(Delta News Agency)

Chita, June 28.—Numerous rumors are being spread by the Japanese Publicity Bureau alleging ill-treatment of Japanese subjects and anti-Soviet uprisings; for instance, the prohibition of freedom of movement, the confiscation of passports, the guarding of Japanese houses, and the prohibition to enter the Far Eastern Republic.

These rumors are said to be purely invented and intended to sow the seeds of enmity between the two nations. Japanese subjects in Chita enjoy the same rights as Russians. The rumor about uprisings is also foundless. Voluntary mobilisation of the population against the White Guards shows the relations between the people and the government.

Harbin, June 30.—The departure of Semenoff for Grodekovo was chiefly facilitated by the Japanese. Fearing the Kappelists who were closely watching the Ataman and his staff, the Japanese took great care to cover his movement.

The attempt to subjugate the Nikolsk-Ussurisk garrison failed owing to the timely measures adopted by General Smolin (Kappelist). All Semenoff's forces are being concentrated in the region of Grodekovo whence they intend to advance upon Vladivostok.

London, July 4.—The civil marriage took place this morning in the Registry Office in the Strand of Consuelo, ex-Duchess of Marlborough, and Lieut.-Colonel Louis Balsan, a retired French officer. President Harding Signs Act Ending War With Germany

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Raritan, N. J., July 2.—The resolution of Congress declaring the state of war with Germany and Austria-Hungary ended, was signed by President Harding at 3:45 p.m. today at the home of Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, where he was spending the week end.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, July 2.—A spirited debate preceded the vote on the resolution ending the state of war with Germany and Austria. Senator Frank B. Brandegee (Connecticut), replying to a question, expressed the opinion that the result would be the withdrawal of the American troops from Germany. It was not, he added, the intention of the Republicans to have a treaty of peace with Germany but a treaty of Commerce.

GLASGOW SWEPT BY COSTLY FIRE; LOSS IS £250,000

Argyll Street Blaze Starts In Bowman's Stores And Wipes Out Block

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 3.—An enormous fire broke out in Argyll Street, Glasgow, causing damage estimated at £250,000. Two firemen were killed, and taree injured.

The fire started in Bowman's Stores at a very busy time last evening and spread rapidly. The customers and assistants got away safely. The fire roared the whole night long and the whole block of buildings reaching to Millar Street and including warehouses, banks and the Corporation Library, was gutted. Sparks set other buildings on fire, causing damage to one to the extent of £12,000.

Four hundred workers have rendered idle.

France Rejects Newest Proposals Of Moscow Agent

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 4.—According to the Morning Post, France has emphatically declined the renewed proposals of M. Krassin, the Russian trade delegate, to resume trade relations with Russia and has stated that she sees no reason to modify the attitude she has maintained up to the present, notwithstanding M. Krassin's declaration that the Soviet Government is considering further modifications of its Communist policy.

CANTONESE MAKE ANOTHER GAIN; MOVE ON WATLAM

Kwangsi Forces Reported To Be Still Menacing Yamchow And Limchow Areas

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, July 2.—It is officially reported that the Cantonese have made a further advance in Kwangsi territory, capturing Shumkai (southwest of Wuchow), and marching towards Watlam.

On the other hand, the Kwangsi forces are still menacing the Yamchow and Limchow districts in their attempt to reach the sea and facilitate the supply of arms from foreign ports. To meet this movement, the Cantonese are exercising extra vigilance on the coasts.

KOCHOW TAKEN

Hongkong, July 4.—It is reported that Kochow has fallen to the invading Kwangsi forces, and that the Cantonese have been completely routed in the neighborhood of Cheunghui and retreated upon Suikai.

The situation on the northern front is also grave, as the Kwangsi troops are advancing on Yingtak, on the North River. Large forces are being rushed to the north from Canton.

According to the Hongkong Telegraph, nine battalions of Cantonese at Yamhsin and three battalions of Yunnanese have mutinied and joined the Kwangsi forces.

SLY BACK IN CANTON

Canton, July 4.—The British Vice-Consul here (Mr. Sly) who arranged an armistice between the Cantonese and Kwangsi troops in order to prevent the latter from looting Wuchow before their retreat, has returned to Canton, as has also the U.S.S. Pampanga, after her guarding foreign interests there. No foreign property at Wuchow has been damaged up to the present, and communications between that place and Canton are open, but business is quiet.

ALLIANCE OF BRITAIN AND JAPAN HOLDS YEAR LONGER

Pact Remains In Force Automatically Under New Decision

NEWS WITHHELD

No Reports Being Issued Of Discussions At Conference

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 2.—Certain misapprehensions regarding the present position of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance are cleared up by Reuter's Agency, which is informed that the Anglo-Japanese Note which was sent to the League of Nations last July was regarded by the Law Officers of the Crown, but not by Lord Curzon, as constituting a denunciation of the Treaty, which would accordingly expire on July 13 next. Hence the proposal to extend the operation of the Treaty for three months, to allow of discussions regarding the future. Japan at the time dissented from the view of the British Law Officers, and the Dominions were perfectly cognisant of the position, which continued until a day or two ago when the Lord Chancellor reversed the previous decision of the other Law Officers. The question of extension of the operation of the Treaty for three months has therefore been dropped. The Treaty even if it is denounced on July 13 next will automatically continue for one year.

MAINTAIN SECRECY

London, July 2.—Profound secrecy is being maintained regarding the discussions of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance at the Imperial Conference. Apart from Reuter's announcement that the Alliance is regarded as being automatically renewed for one year, the only information vouchsafed is that there are no developments to report and that the account of the proceedings published by certain papers is partial and therefore misleading.

It is pointed out that the proposals for an international agreement as regards the Pacific embody no new idea and are not the suggestion of any particular person. No approaches in this connection have thus far been made to the United States or Japan, and the suggestion has not as yet assumed a concrete form.

No fewer than seven members of the British Cabinet attended yesterday's conference. These were: Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Montagu, Mr. Balfour, Lord Curzon, Lord Lee, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans and Captain Hon. F. E. Guest, Mr. Winston Churchill, however, was absent, while another Canadian Minister was present, in the person of Mr. Charles C. Ballantyne, the Minister of Marine, who only arrived here on Tuesday. The presence of the Ministers of War and Air was due to the fact that the subject of Imperial defence was on the agenda, but the discussions of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance occupied most of the day.

VIEWS IN PRESS

London, July 2.—The "Westminster Gazette" states that the sudden discovery by the Government's legal advisers that the Anglo-Japanese Treaty does not require renewal may not make much difference to the actual future policy of the Empire but it clearly greatly alters the immediate issue before the Imperial Conference. The journal adds that the Government should have been quite clear about the legal position of the Treaty long before the Conference met.

London, July 3.—The Observer welcomes the prolongation of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty as affording a valuable respite which is necessary to mature consideration of the question of its renewal.

It simultaneously sounds a warning against procrastination and attempts to evade issues which must be faced. It recommends the adoption of a new pact including the United States, failing which, this newspaper considers, renunciation of the Alliance, which forms a most valuable bridge between East and West, would be fraught with the gravest dangers for the internal unity of the Empire and the peace of the world.

The Sunday Times also advocates profiting by the opportunity afforded in order to explore the possibility of connecting the Treaty with the projected disarmament conference between Great Britain, Japan and the United States.

Continuing, the Sunday Times sums up the arguments for and against renewal of the Alliance, and in connection with the latter case mentions the possibility of subsequent strained relations between Japan and the United States, while the principal reason given in favor of renewal is the natural desire not to break with an old friend, coupled with the feeling that as an ally of Japan Great Britain might be able to exercise some influence on her policy, notably in China.

GIVES JAPANESE VIEW

Washington, July 4.—A statement issued by the Japanese Ambassador (Mr. Shidehara) emphasises that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance was never intended as an instrument of hostility to, or even of defence against, the United States.

He says the negotiations for the renewal of the treaty have not yet been begun, but meanwhile an active campaign seems to have been undertaken to misrepresent the possible effect of the Alliance on the United States.

He declares that Japan is naturally anxious to strengthen the Anglo-Japanese ties of friendship and loyal co-operation which she considers highly important to the maintenance of stability in the Far East. At the same time, Japan has the fixed and firm determination to permit nothing to hamper her traditional relations of goodwill and goodwill with the United States.

Japan is satisfied that these two affiliations are by no means incompatible. On the contrary, they are complementary and even essential to each other, he asserts.

Bombay, July 4.—The Times of India says the provisions of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty in regard to India cannot be allowed to stand without the consent of India. It contends that the time has come to eliminate from the treaty all reference to India, and to define its scope afresh.

ECONOMY POLICY PUT INTO EFFECT IN PHILIPPINES

war comes we might not fight for you. What is necessary is to have a definite understanding as to when we shall be given independence, so that we can go to work with a true heart at the solving of our problems. With this question out of the way for the time being, we will develop two strong parties here and real local issues. Now all are held together by this one issue against America.

"A split will come in the Nationalist party and there will be conservative and liberal parties. I will lead the latter. The people will begin to scrutinise the Government and take steps to correct evils. In four years there will be one-third of our Congress composed of young English-speaking men, trained in American methods of thought and government. In eight years such members will constitute one-half of our Congress, and in twelve years they will control it. That will be the time for America to step out. A real division is coming between these young men and the old Spanish-speaking men who will then step aside and take a position something like that of the elder statesmen of Japan."

Mr. Quezon added that, although he still maintained that an independent republican form of government of the Philippines would be the best for all concerned and from all points of view, he did not think this was likely to result from the Wood-Forbes Mission's report. He was anxious about the situation for party and personal reasons; for, he said, it was loaded with dynamite and capable of causing infinite trouble for the United States unless it were solved with tact and wisdom.

Mr. Quezon concluded the interview with the remark:

"We are a peaceable people, easily led, and we will take our medicine from you now, but you must not push us too far and you must keep your promises."

Mr. Quezon, who is shortly leaving for the United States in order, it is understood, to work for the independence idea, said that he would call on President Harding in the course of his visit.

COMMISSION IN SOUTH

Manila, June 25.—Reports from the Wood-Forbes Mission, which has been inspecting the provinces of Southern Luzon and adjacent islands during the last week indicate that the people of the provinces desire a protectorate, although a few speakers have urged independence in any form.

Bad weather impeded the party at various points. Governor Forbes was forced to spend one night in a small launch at an obscure inlet along the coast, the yacht Alava, which was to pick him up, having been delayed by heavy seas. In the trip through Sorsogon province, Mr. Forbes had to swim his horse across the swollen streams. Torrential rains held up the investigators at several points.

conference of the heads of foreign banks was held yesterday.

RUN ON BANKS

Withdrawal of substantial amounts from various banks and the tightness of the local money market were followed by rumors generally circulated yesterday which culminated in a run on the Bank of Canton and predictions that foreign banks will be called upon to pay out large amounts today.

Twenty-two Chinese banks joined the Bank of Canton in the paying out of large amounts of specie to allay the fears of excited Chinese and the Bank of Canton did not experience any difficulty.

Formation of a score of trust companies and exchanges last month prompted the withdrawal of unusual sums from many banks. These enterprises, which were started by Chinese and are engaged more or less in speculative business, are capitalised at $200,000,000 and of this fifty millions of dollars is paid up.

While foreign bankers admit that the situation is temporarily disconcerting, they state that there is little to fear as Shanghai now has a stock of over Taels 55,000,000 in silver and every foreign bank is in sound condition. "There would be no trouble were it not for the rumors in circulation," a banker said yesterday.

Native bank interest, normally about seven tael cents per day per Taels 1,000, was yesterday 36, because of the tightness of the money market. On June 18, it was but four cents per Taels 1,000 per day and on June 27 it was but eight.

In commenting on the situation The Asia Banking Corporation daily report yesterday said: "There was little exchange business doing as in view of the present unsettled state of the local money market, banks were unwilling to enter into commitments other than those made necessary by their immediate cash requirements."

ACTION AT PEKING

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 3.—A meeting of representatives of the Ministry of Finance and the Peking Chinese Bankers Association today decided that the latter body should advance funds for the purpose of cashing the outstanding banknotes of the Banque Industrielle de Chine, leaving the deposits and other obligations to be settled by the bank itself.

The Association has appointed a special committee to arrange with the French Legation and the bank itself regarding the means whereby these notes can be cashed in the speediest way and with the least inconvenience to the public. As soon as the form of procedure has been decided, public notification will again be issued. In cities where the bank has branches the same measures will be carried out by the local bankers' associations.

MEETING HERE

Shanghai, July 4.—Reuter is officially informed that negotiations have been conducted today with a view to effecting an understanding with the Chinese Bankers' Association whereby the outstanding notes of the Banque Industrielle de Chine would be paid at par.

What was apparently a definite agreement to this effect was reached this morning. A hitch arose, however, this afternoon, owing to a disagreement on the part of certain members of the Association, as the outcome of which a telegram has been despatched to Peking. It is hoped that the arrangement will be completed tomorrow.

The Peking Tramway Company, according to current reports, is seeking to cancel the loan from the Bank Industrielle de Chine on account of the latter's condition. The shares of the company have gone down considerably, according to the Chinese press.

REICHSTAG TALK FINDS NO FAVOR IN FRENCH EYES

Paris Papers Say Outbursts, However, Will Not Be Taken Seriously

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, July 3.—Certain of the speeches made in the Reichstag during the debate on the sanctions have appeared exceedingly inopportune to French public opinion, as voiced in the press. The charges of imperialistic and aggressive aims made against France by certain deputies are regarded as merely defeating their own ends. They cannot be taken seriously, the French newspapers say, and they detract from the favorable impression which exists in France and among her allies regarding the good faith of the Wirth cabinet.

Nevertheless, say the newspapers, France will not allow these outbursts to alter her conciliatory attitude, and will continue to study the problem involved in the sanctions. France admits that the measures taken after the refusal of the Fehrenbach cabinet have had the desired effect and that it is due to them that the Wirth cabinet accepted the London Agreement, and has hitherto fulfilled its obligations.

France is not a whit less anxious to consider the abolition of the sanctions than Germany, the press declares, but it is necessary first of all to make sure of Germany's sincerity in regard to disarmament, and it would be also advisable to have the Upper Silesia controversy definitely settled. Moreover, the newspapers consider it advisable to take certain precautions at the outset, such as, for instance, the conclusion of a commercial agreement regarding economic relations with Rumania, before abolishing the Custom's control.

Finally, and above all, France takes into consideration the eventualities that might arise if a Cabinet less loyal than the present Wirth ministry were to come into power. The attitude of the latter, the newspapers state, has been influenced by the Pan-German elements, especially in Upper Silesia, and it can be imagined from that what would happen if these elements were as successful in a German parliamentary election as they were in the Upper Silesia plebiscite. On the other hand, according to the published reports of the Reichstag sittings, demonstrations by the big commercial, industrial, and agricultural leagues against the reparations policy of Dr. Wirth and Herr Walter Rathenau are increasing day by day, and are becoming more and more violent.

In these circumstances, the press declares, France is obliged to remain on her guard, and not to indulge in acts of generosity which she might regret later. She does not wish to perpetuate the measures she has taken, but she must avoid any act of imprudence or weakness.

Peking Government Avro Crashes At Opening Ceremony

Peking, July 2.—An Avro Airplane of the Aeronautical Department, piloted by Mr. Huang Tehtai and with a newspaper man as a passenger, crashed at the opening ceremony of the Peking-Tsinan Mail Service this afternoon. Both were slightly injured.

The machine was in the air but three minutes before it fell.

Huang was among the delegation of students sent to Manila last year, where he took a course in aeronautics in the Curtiss Aviation School.

their doors were open, were not making sales Sunday.

Over the week end there was tremendous buying in the shops in Chinese territory, crowds of purchasers going from the International Settlement and bringing back cereal in bags and baskets, by ricsha, carriage or bamboo coolie. It is one hope of the local officials that this rush of business may have the effect of causing the outside dealers to defer their strike.

Reports were received here yesterday that Pootung merchants also will join in the demonstration against the Settlement licensing scheme and the police in that were said to be taking measures to prevent disturbances, owing to the great number of factory workers employed there. Rice has risen in price by 300 to 400 cash per peck in Pootung.

Various Chinese commercial organisations held meetings Sunday and yesterday and passed resolutions calling upon the rice dealers to resume business and enter into negotiations on the license question and the officials of the rice merchants guild have inserted an advertisement in the Chinese press asking the dealers in Chinese territory not to strike.

ASK SUPPLIES BE SENT

The Rice Threshing Merchants' Guild held a meeting on Sunday at which were present the presidents of Nantao and Chapei Rice Merchants' Guilds. The latter were asked to write to their agents in the interior requesting them to send further supplies to Shanghai. The two representatives stated that the Chinese authorities were doing their best to mediate in the present controversy.

The Civil Governor of the province has again wired the Taoyin of Shanghai to exhort the shop men to resume business pending a settlement.

Natives of Soochow resident in Shanghai have written to the guilds inquiring if they should take steps to provide rice for the poor here who come from their native district. They state that their purpose in putting the question is to forestall any charges of profiteering which might be made in case they start buying supplies from the producing districts.

Groups of Chinese from other districts are propounding the same query and their action is viewed with great satisfaction by local officials, since if the poorer classes are cared for chances of trouble are greatly reduced.

The police department in the Settlement, Frenchtown and Nantao and Chapei are taking extra precautions in anticipation of emergencies today. In the Settlement the special branch of the force is also standing by and in Nantao extra police are being stationed outside restaurants, bakeries and other food dispensing establishments.

IS FOR "STRONG NAVY"

"I am not sure whether trade follows the flag or the flag follows rade, but I do know that if you ave trade you must have a flag nost to protect it. And I therefore make a plea for a good strong avy, one commensurate with our reat wealth and commerce. Navies re costly and the time necessary o build them is measured by decades rather than years, so we must patiently submit to the necesary taxation during long years of eace in order that we may possess his defender of our just rights. More than that we do not want.

"It has been my lot in life to ravel all over the world. Believe me when I tell you that the more see the prouder I am and the appier I am that I am an American.

"It is a great pleasure to meet o many representatives of our ountry. Good Americans all—upholding the flag—pioneers of our ommerce and civilisation."

OTHERS ALSO SPEAK

Commander Gyles, in a humorous peech which was received with much appreciation, extended elicitations on behalf of the British ommunity. M. de la Prade alluded to America's efforts in the great war in a few eloquent words and Captain Richardson made a patriotic talk, expressing gratification over the growing realisation at home of the importance of American interests abroad.

Mr. Cunningham, whose arrival was delayed, also added his appreciation of the hospitality of the American Club officials and added his welcome to the visitors of other nationality.

During the afternoon the flagship Huron and the cruiser Albany, colorfully dressed and decorated, kept "open house" and many visitors were received. Children especially visited the ships in great numbers.

The report of the baseball games in one of which Shanghai decisively trimmed the flagship nine, retaining possession of the Challenge Cup—will be found in the sporting columns.

EVENING FESTIVITIES

Special Fourth of July dinners, followed by dances, were served at the Astor House, the Carlton and Cafe Parisien last night, large crowds enjoying the attractive menus and staying late for the dancing.

At the Astor House members of the Russian Opera Company, now playing at the Lyceum Theater, delighted with special numbers between the dances in the Summer Garden where Earl Currens and his jazz orchestra held forth.

Special patriotic numbers were played by Johnny Barron's band at the Carlton and Harry Kerrey's associates in jazz at the Parisien. The cafes were thronged until an early hour this morning.

AT THE COLUMBIA CLUB

Members of the Columbia Country Club entertained their friends at a tea dance which followed the baseball game at the Race Course. The orchestra of the Cafe Parisien played for the dancing and refreshments were served. Several hundred visited the Club during the late afternoon and early evening.

At the conclusion of the official program Consul-General Cunningham expressed his sincere appreciation to all whose assistance helped toward the successful celebration of the day; to Admiral Strauss for the presence of the flagship's orchestra at the Consulate, to the Navy for the interior decorations, to Mr. Schuhl for floral decorations and to Messrs. Andersen, Meyer for electrical display, the latter including the illumination of the Consulate flagstaff from which was flown last night naval pennants complimentary to the other great nations.

Community Church Holds Patriotic Service Sunday

Judge Charles S. Lobingier of the United States Court for China and United States Consul-General Edwin S. Cunningham delivered stirring addresses at the patriotic service held under the direction of the Community Church at the Masonic Temple on Sunday afternoon. There was a large attendance and the program was in keeping with the spirit of the Fourth of July.

Judge Lobingier's address is given in full on the editorial page. Mr. Cunningham's address follows:

"For nearly one and a half centuries the 4th of July has been observed by the American people as a Day when we may appear to our foreign friends egotistical, but our sincerity in the pride that we have for our country is our sole excuse. It is gratifying indeed to have the opportunity to keep warm on these national days the history and principles for which our nation is so justly noted. It is delightful indeed that these days are observed in foreign countries by Americans because in no other way can children be brought up to have the reverence and love of their country that we all should like to see displayed. Unless they are well drilled in the principles of our government, it is impossible for them to be imbued with strong patriotism.

"We can see partially the result of a final pioneer movement that was started by our forefathers a century and a half ago, which through a long process and unconscionable preparation, was to entrust liberty to new forms and institutions, and which was regarded by many as an experiment, but which to our patriotic ancestors seemed full of promise to mankind.

NEW SIGNIFICANCE

"This day each year takes on a new and broader significance to the American people, because it could not be otherwise if we are progressing as we believe. The United States which was brought forth as a union of 13 colonies on the seaboard of the Atlantic has now become a nation great in size, population and wealth.

"The 13 original colonies have grown to be 48 States, extending from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific Ocean. Its population of 3,500,000 has increased to 110,000,000. Our wealth is reflected in the material statistics that for more than half a century have caused the world to wonder. Our cotton fields have enriched others; our farms become world granaries; our manufacturing plants exist in every part of the Union; and our trade with the world has grown to stupendous proportions.

"The fortunes of war under Divine direction some 23 years ago identified the American nation with foreign problems, and in becoming associated with the problems of Europe during the recent war and continuing during the present period of reconstruction, the United States has departed from its traditional policy of devoting herself exclusively to the affairs of the American Continent.

"The motive which kept the United States from entangling alliances, as President Washington put it, was one of self-preservation. Foreign alliances are baneful because dangerous to existence and to republican form of government.

"The 4th of July denotes rather the desire to strengthen and preserve the 13 States which became a nation through the Declaration of Independence than to emphasise the separation of these colonies from their mother country. With the birth of the nation came the desire to develop the continent.

"The government was felt to be but a hand of protection and blessing. Labor and capital was employed in worthy undertakings. At first the hope was with enterprise to cross the Alleghanies, to cut down the forests, to develop the agricultural and mineral resources, to build comfortable homes and ideal schools in the wilderness; but when this was accomplished, the pioneers sought to reach the waters of the Mississippi, to settle the El Dorado of the prairies, which feat was accomplished by the expenditure of tremendous energy and courage.

EAST TO WEST

"And finally, still braving the wilderness, the Great Rocky Mountains were reached, and this success, stimulated by the report of the discovery of gold in what is now California, finally resulted in the Pacific Ocean being reached, which made us a neighbor of China, brought us into association with people other than those from which we had sprung, and reversing the voyage of Columbus, rediscovered the old world from the new.

"Some have said, that it is remarkable what progress was made in the United States in so incredibly short a period. Perhaps, from the standpoint of the history of the human race, the time is short, but the United States did not spring fully from the brow of any man. It grew slowly and during the period of its earliest growth many mistakes were made, some of which almost wrecked the nation, but the patriots were not discouraged, but continued to labor unselfishly to a definite end.

"Before we achieved absolute national unity a great war was fought which brought bitterness and misery to our people and almost shattered the belief in the possibility of an idealistic government, and if we have succeeded as a nation it was because through all of our hardships, through all of our errors, through all of our discouragement and sadness, there was a determination that our nation and the form of government which it typifies shall not perish from the earth but shall endure to the end of time.

"Through all these years, future generations must admire the patience, the patriotism and the devotion to public affairs, to the exclusion of personal aggrandisement, that has been displayed by our forefathers.

RESULT OF IDEAL

"The same patience, the same patriotism, the same unselfishness that was necessary in the United States is absolutely necessary for any nation attempting to build up a new government on modern principles of republicanism.

"America is the development of an ideal which was once believed impossible and which has now come to be recognised as the most stable and permanent form of government of modern states.

"In setting up the democracy, the pioneers of the United States braved the criticism and the opposition of the strongly entrenched and powerful orders. Despotism was accepted as divine, while the Puritans of New England believed that men were free, and it has taken more than two centuries for most of the nations of the world to accept this theory of government and life, and even today it is not accepted in all parts.

CHINA'S REPUBLIC

"But among the first of the nations to remodel their form of government during the 20th century was China. To change into a democracy entailed more than the mere writing of a constitution.

"It required a new outlook on life, a reorganisation of political and social activities, a revivification of convention. The articles of federation under which the 13 colonies first attempted to operate were inadequate and required not only revision but redrafting.

"The early years of every democracy have been as difficult as was the childhood of the United States, whose growth to its present form of government was a gradual one through many years of doubt and fear and of doubt for the future years lest the experiment should fail. It requires tremendous courage and faith for a republic to reach full manhood.

"The breakdown of old customs and traditions often results in periods of great abuse, but if the citizens of the republic will keep their democratic ideals before them, if they will have faith in the rightness of their form of government, if they will serve unselfishly their people and strive to develop the country and its inhabitants, they will succeed.

"One of the characteristics of the American people, and which it is believed has contributed very largely to the success of the government, is the absolute belief of the people in the justice and supremacy of the organic law.

"It is the belief that if there exist a constitution or any law, it must be respected until changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people and this belief is sacredly obligatory upon all. The very idea of the power and right of the people to establish government presupposes the duty of every individual to obey the established government.

"It is noteworthy in American history that the small struggling 13 colonies, representing fewer than four million souls, extended a hearty welcome to the people and financiers of the world irrespective of their nationality to assist them in proving the correctness of their ideals, idealism, and in the development of their country commercially and economically, and as a result the people and money from abroad have contributed largely to make the United States what she is today.

"We commemorate the 4th of July that these ideals may be constantly before us, and let us impress these good American principles on the young minds of our children."

THE FOURTH IN CANTON

RIOTOUS SAILORS SENT TO PRISON FOR TWO MONTHS

Jail With Hard Labor For Trio From Celtic Prince

Three firemen of the crew of the steamer Celtic Prince were sentenced to two months' imprisonment, with hard labor, by Magistrate G. W. King, of the British Police Court, yesterday for their part in the disturbances which have been occurring aboard ship from the time it reached Yokohama until it arrived here.

A charge of attempted murder which was laid against the men—J. Wright, J. Moore and P. Deane—was dismissed. They were alleged to have severely beaten and threatened to "finish" J. Cairns, another member of the crew. The trouble was laid to liquor. Other charges brought against the three named were: wilful disobedience to commands of master and officers, continued neglect of duty, combining together to impede the navigation of the vessel and wilfully damaging the vessel by removing certain brass fittings and removing the steering wheel. A fourth sailor, T. Galloway, was charged with disobedience and combining with others to neglect duty. The latter, the captain testified, had threatened to get the whole crew to leave unless the chief officer was paid off and had held up the ship for six hours.

Mr. P. W. Goldring, appearing for the ship's onwers, stated that his clients did not feel justified in pressing for commitment on the graver charge owing to the difficulty in keeping the ship over.

WAS BADLY BEATEN

Dr. H. C. Patrick, who examined Cairns last Friday, said the man was in his bunk and in extreme pain when he called. There were bruises on the shoulder, chest and back and he was suffering from pain in the side. The injuries had been inflicted several days previously, with fists, or possibly a blunt weapon: or they might have been caused by kicks or by someone jumping on the man.

Mr. Goldring, outlining the case, said that the defendants had taken opportunity when the ship reached Yokohama to get drunk and they appeared to have behaved like madmen and brutes. They got a fresh supply at Taku by selling some of the ship's property. The assault occurred on June 26. The men came to the chief engineer and said that they had "done for" Cairns. The chief took them to the bridge and told the captain. On their leaving, Cairns was seen coming to the bridge and they had again attacked him. They declared that Cairns had "squealed" on them about theft of ship's property.

TROUBLE AT EVERY PORT

Captain Evan Jones, and the chief engineer told of the fight they had witnessed from the bridge, describing it as like a rugby football game. The captain said that accused told him if Cairns was not dead they would finish him. There had been trouble at every port.

Cairns proved a reluctant witness and said that as far as he was concerned he wished the charges might be withdrawn. One of the accused gave the excuse of too much drink for the fight. Eight of them had emptied twelve bottles of whisky between noon and 4 p.m., he said.

The Court said the explanation was not very satisfactory. He regarded Deane, the last witness, as the ringleader. There had been a most disgraceful scene aboard the ship but it seemed impossible that such an amount of drink could be consumed in the space of time. It was quite clear that Cairns had been manhandled and the sentence would be two months with hard labor for each accused.

Strikers Take Stove When Laundrymen Refuse To Join Them

Taking a leaf out of the book of the recently striking carpenters and masons, who went about seizing the tools of workers who declined to walk out, a squad of eleven washermen invaded the Bubbling Well district Sunday and paid a visit to the laundering establishment of Tsen Liang-an at 66 Yates Road. After meeting with a refusal to join the strike from the proprietor and men, the agitators gathered up all the irons in the place and then clinched matters by seizing the stove also and departed with a warning to Tsen not to try and resume operations.

There are about thirty washermen on strike from laundries on Weihaiwei Road and some from establishments in Frenchtown. They have stated that they will not return to work until after today when the Mixed Court action between the two laundrymen's guilds is expected to be concluded.

CARPENTIER'S WRIST BROKEN TWICE BY BLOW IN SECOND; DEMPSEY PRAISES GEORGES

French Champion Injures Right When He Hit Dempsey Hard Early In Fight; "Staked All On Blow," He Said

(Reuter's Service)

Manhassett, N. Y., July 2.—Carpentier's performance in his fight with Dempsey appears in a more favorable light in view of the announcement of his trainer that the Frenchman broke his right wrist in two places with his drive to Dempsey's jaw in the second round. Three physicians are now in attendance on him.

GATE OVER A MILLION

Jersey City, July 2.—Ninety thousand spectators, including many women, were present at today's fight, and the receipts totalled $1,600,000.

Carpentier was confidence personified as he entered the ring, and took the offensive immediately. His snappy work with both hands made Dempsey seem comparatively slow. Dempsey, finding that his rights were not reaching their mark owing to the Frenchman's clever ducking, started body punishment, which finally wore down Carpentier to a condition which made it an easy matter for the American to administer the coup de grace.

A heavy right to the neck and left to the stomach early in the fourth round made Carpentier fall forward. He remained on all fours, seemingly in dire distress, but rose to a count of nine. Dempsey, who had been leaning on the ropes with expressionless face, darted forward. Disdaining the Frenchman's blows, he drove his right with all his might to the heart—a fearful blow.

GEORGES WAS GAME

Carpentier crashed down, but did not lose consciousness. He tried to rise, clawing at the canvas, and got almost to his knees, his legs working spasmodically. With eyes wide open, and gasping for air, he gazed appealingly at Deschamps, who, wild-eyed, stood in the corner, watching the referee counting out his boy.

At the count of eight the Frenchman made a superhuman effort to rise, but in vain, and fell forward on his face, beaten. Dempsey assisted him to rise, and dragged him to a corner, where he revived in a few seconds. The spectators stood in their seats, wildly shouting and cheering.

The doctor who examined Carpentier after the fight said the Frenchman's right thumb was broken in two places, and the wrist was sprained.

Dempsey, who came through without a mark, was exceedingly happy at the result. He declared "Carpentier is a good, game fellow, but I think I got it over him. I do not remember once being hit hard enough even to shake me."

Carpentier took his defeat gamely, and warmly praised his opponent. He said he had staked all on a win in the second round, and hit Dempsey hard, but could not drop him. He tried again in the third round, but a right to the neck from Dempsey seemed to daze him.

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Jersey City, July 2.—Carpentier finished the fight flat on his face with his legs and arms outstretched. Dempsey knocked him out in one minute sixteen seconds after the fourth round opened, sending him heavily to the canvas with a strong right hook to the chin. Carpentier took a count of nine before rising to his feet when the grim Dempsey measured him with a punch to the chin, thus ending the battle. Dempsey stood over his fallen opponent until the count was finished and then tenderly lifted the bleeding and dazed Frenchman and carried him to his corner.

Dempsey gave Carpentier an unmerciful beating and opened a cut under the Frenchman's eye. Dempsey contiued to batter him seriously with hard rights and lefts until Carpentier's face was swollen and bleeding.

Carpentier fought gamely but he was outclassed. Once he was half knocked through the ropes and most of the time he kept backing away. Dempsey kept after him, driving him into his corner frequently.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

(Reuter's Service)

Jersey City, July 2.—Dempsey retains his title as heavyweight champion boxer of the world. He knocked out Carpentier in the fourth round of the great fight here this afternoon.

The American had all the better of the fight throughout, battering Carpentier unmercifully and sending him to the ropes several times indeed had the bell not gone at the

Local Girl's Dream Of Jack's Victory Verified By Phone

Shanghai was all excited about Carpentier's chances with Dempsey and from 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning until THE CHINA PRESS fight extra was on the street at noon the four telephones in this office buzzed merrily (the word used in its sarcastic sense). Many of the replies were funny when he or she on the other end was told that Mr. Carpentier had been knocked out in the fourth.

A young lady telephoned to THE CHINA PRESS at 4:42 a.m. and was anxious to know all about what happened at Jersey City. Her answer to the news was: "My goodness, I just dreamt that Dempsey had won." Another funny one was a citizen of the Republic of France who said with evident glee and a marked French accent—"Zat ees vereee good."

The "damns" were frequent but the audience on the other end of the wires figured about equally strong for Georges and Jack.

SAYS "BUGS" Baer: ROUGHTOWN NO VULGAR PLACE

Actions Of New York Society Would Make Roughtown Lady Swallow Chewing Tobacco

BY 'BUGS' BAER

Wherever fight fans congregate, and that's usually in the back room, the buzzing always runs to the great fight between Gink Fowler and Squealer Beezie, the fighting pacifist.

Until the day that Gabriel syncopates the crack of doom, this gigantic kewpie contest will be on the end of men's tongues like a fever blister.

It was fought with bare knuckles on an island in the Pacific Ocean. The Mayor of Roughtown was strongly against prize fighting when he found that no Annie Oakleys were to be in the municipal nosebag. In a speech that lasted four days, drunk and sober, he blasted fighters, managers and ticket speculators.

Although the Mayor didn't know it, he was a ticket speculator himself. He was speculating on a ticket to Heaven. All of Roughtown's reformers punched their wives a goodby wallop on the nose and went out to get the Mayor. The last seen of the old boy he was leaping from milestone to milestone without touching the carpet. If he ain't running yet, it is because he has a bad memory.

PICTURE STOPS BULLET

A bullet that would have struck his heart was stopped by a flask of liquor. A bullet went through his hip pocket and was stopped by a picture of his wife. That would have stopped anything. The Mayor carried everything in the right place.

Don't get Roughtown wrong and think that the folks knew nothing about the finer things of life. No finer ladies ever graced a riot than the gals of that burg. Bob Watson states that the belle of Roughtown once removed a mole from her neck with an acetelyne torch. After her voice cracked she played safe. She must have played the wrong safe, because she disappeared about the same time that the Roughtown Building Society lost a million dollars in Mexican money and a valuable recipe for preserving asthma.

The old folks never get tired of telling about the time she made her formal debut in the Roughtown brewery and she complained about the vats not having handles on 'em. She returned a beating that her school teacher had given her forty years before. Charming girl, but quick tempered.

MET AT LOW TIDE

But all that has nothing to do with fighting. Gink and Squealer met on this island at low tide. Gink had done some quick thinking. He had his belt around his neck like an Ascot tie. He figured that the Squealer

THRONG IS OUT AT LEEDS FOR CRICKET MATCH

Weather Fine And Spectators Number 21,000 At First Day's Play

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 2.—Glorious weather favored the opening day's play in the third test match at Leeds today, and attracted 21,000 spectators. Armstrong, the Australian captain, won the toss, and elected to bat on a pitch which was in perfect condition. With 50 runs on the board the English captain, Major the Hon. L. H. Tennyson, while fielding at cover-point, had the misfortune to sustain a badly split finger, which necessitated several surgical stitches. His further participation in the game is very doubtful. Upon his retirement, J. W. H. T. Douglas assumed the captaincy.

The English team showed good form in the field, and Douglas made frequent bowling changes, trying six bowlers in all. Nevertheless the Australian score mounted rapidly, and the innings, which lasted three hours 20 minutes, yielded 409. The visitors did not show their customary consistency, as four of them failed to reach double figures. Macartney was the only one to reach a century. Parkin took four of the wickets and Douglas three.

On the English side going in to bat which started badly Woolley and Hearne were dismissed cheaply, and at the close of play the score stood at 22 for two wickets.

Norton Of South Africa Bows To Bill Tilden In Great Match At Wimbledon

American Not In Best Of Form But Comes Through After Fight

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 2.—William T. Tilden (America), holder, defeated Norton (South Africa) in the challenge round of the Singles Lawn-Tennis Championship at Wimbledon today by 4-6, 2-6, 6-1, 6-0, 7-5.

There was a record crowd at Wimbledon to witness the match. Norton began in wonderful fashion, winning the first two sets, but after that his play deteriorated and he made many mistakes when at a critical stage he had splendid opportunities of winning. In the opening sets, Norton made many forceful and accurate strokes and volleyed brilliantly. With Tilden frequently serving doublefaults, Norton seized every chance.

Afterwards the South African fell away inexplicably. Tilden, although not playing his best, monopolised the court, winning twelve games to Norton's one, and making the match two sets all. The strain of the deciding test was obviously too much for Norton, who more than once was within a stroke of winning but made mistake after mistake and allowed his opponent to snatch a somewhat fortunate victory.

OTHER MATCHES

SHANGHAI BEATS HURON NINE IN HOLIDAY GAME FOR CUP BEFORE RECORD CROWD OF YEAR

Local Have Easy Time, On Long End Of 10-3 Score; Albany Beaten In Second Of Doubleheader, 8-0, Merrill Hurling No-Hit Game

FOR the third successive time the Shanghai Baseball Club won the big American community cup for the annual Fourth of July baseball game, at the Race Course diamond yesterday afternoon, when the flagship Huron was decisively beaten by the score of 10 to 3.

A record baseball crowd saw the game. Extra grand stand seats were erected in anticipation of a big attendance, yet the base-line ropes were lined with fans far out into the outfields.

Consul-General E. C. Cunningham and his staff; Judge C. S. Lobingier of the United States Court for China and his staff, and Captain Cone, U.S.N., of the flagship with the Admiral's staff, and naval officers were present in reserved sections of the stands.

Consul General Cunningham threw the first ball for Shanghai. Captain Cone donned the umpires pad and mask to umpire it. It was perfect strike, over the center of the newly whitened plate, a trifle above knee high. There was no complaint from Scymanski, the man at bat.

CY RECEIVES CUP

After the game Captain Cone presented the cup to the Shanghai Baseball Club, represented by Captain Wilhoit, with a nice little speech suited to the occasion. Captain Wilhoit was especially qualified to receive the cup in that he alone of the present team has played for Shanghai in every game since the cup was first donated for Fourth of July play.

The Fourth of July cup was first competed for in 1916 when the Cruiser Brooklyn first won the right to keep it for the year. The next year, 1917 gave Shanghai the victory, and in 1918 the Navy team, composed of men off the gunboats Palos and Monacacy, on which Terry McGowan, who made himself so popular in Shanghai this spring by his umpiring, and Mal Maloney, at present a valuable member of the

Carpentier Put Up Better Fight Than Jess Willard

Dempsey's victory over Carpentier was similar to the one he won from Jess Willard at Toledo, Ohio, two years ago yesterday when Dempsey took the title.

By his victories over Willard and Carpentier, Dempsey has stamped himself as one of the greatest fighters of all times and the Dempsey punch will go down in history.

Willard weighed 248 pounds, in perfect condition, and was six feet, six inches tall, a giant. And Willard was a clever and fairly fast man. He had won the championship from Jack Johnson. Dempsey knocked him down seven times in the first round. He wore himself out knocking his opponent down. Willard responded for the second and third rounds but was unable to toe the mark for the fourth. His seconds could not get him on his feet. He was game to the core.

But he did not fight half the fight that Carpentier fought—that is from the fighting standpoint. From the account we have in hand at the moment, we judge that the Frenchman exchanged blow for blow. And he hammered Dempsey pretty hard. He rained "rights and lefts to the head" as the account narrates.

Willard left not a mark on Dempsey. He did not succeed in striking one real blow. Two of his ribs were broken by the first right hand blow that Dempsey landed, and his right eye was closed an instant later by Dempsey's devastating left, this blow knocking the then champion down. Six more knockdowns followed. They came as fast as Willard struggled to his feet. Willard took the count as far as he could go, that is, from seven to eight seconds on each knockdown. His gameness could not be questioned. No man in ring history ever took a worse beating. His right eye was entirely shut, his left eye nearly so. His nose was bleeding, his lips split, his teeth knocked loose, and his ribs broken. He kept on getting up.

He was game, yes. And big. He was seven inches taller than Carpentier and he weighed 76 pounds more, all bone and muscle. And he was game. But he did not put up the fight that Georges Carpentier put up. Carpentier was not knocked down seven times, so far as we know, nor one time, in the first round. It was blow for blow. And in the end the better man won. But that was all. Carpentier fought his fight and lost. All of us do that. It will come to Dempsey some day.

Our hat is off to the pair of them!

Reuter's Beats All With News Of Fight Result

Through the co-operation of Reuter's Telegraph Agency, United States Navy radio operators, and the men at the French Wireless Station, messages telling of Dempsey's victory were received in Shanghai as early as 4:05 o'clock Sunday morning.

Reuter's Agency "beat" the city with the result of the fight to this office, although the first message to be caught here was taken by Chief Electrician J. N. Fuller, U. S. N., on duty at the United States Consulate-General and the words were flashed 12,000 meters from "an unknown station." The message was unsigned and read "Rush Dempsey Knocked Out Carpentier Fourth Round." However, there was a delay in distributing the message and it was not released until after Reuter's had notified this office of the result.

Reuter's Agency was notified by the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company, the French Wireless Station caught the six words and an urgent message came through over the cables of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company.

The local manager of Reuter's had cabled to London and New York, asking that the result be "flashed" to Shanghai as soon as possible. The London wire got through first, Reuter's having arranged for a clear line to Shanghai. Reuter's Agency notified The China Press at 4:15 o'clock, 34 minutes after the gong had sounded at Jersey City, 11,000 miles away for the first round and about 14 minutes after the fight was over.

American wireless operators believe that the first news came from the powerful station at Annapolis. Yet other stations learning that Annapolis was sending cut in on a wave length of 11,000 meters but heard only the usual naval business being sent.

Yet other stations, learning that Annapolis was sending, cut in on a wave length of 11,000 meters but heard only the usual naval business being sent. The big set on the U.S.S. Huron, in charge of Chief Electrician T. E. Bean and Electrician Second Class H. A. White, did not happen to catch the first message although they were listening in from 3:30 o'clock on.

Wireless men are interested in learning which station sent out the message received here so soon after the knockout. The wave length is an electrical measurement and does not designate mileage. Annapolis, some 9,000 miles from Shanghai, is registered in different radio directories as between 12,000 and 17,000 meters wave length from Shanghai.

right moment, the challenger would have been knocked out in the third round.

Carpentier finished flat on his face, motionless, with legs and arms outstretched.

The principals entered the ring at 2:55 p.m., both being loudly applauded by the vast concourse of spectators. Carpentier waved his hand, smiling broadly, and slapped Dempsey on the back.

The boxers' official weights were: Dempsey 188 pounds; Carpentier, 172 pounds. The fight began at 3:18.

FIRST ROUND

In the first round, Carpentier opened with a left lead. Then came a clinch. In the consequent in-fighting, Dempsey battered Carpentier unmercifully to the ropes. It was Dempsey's round.

SECOND ROUND

In the second round, Dempsey drove Carpentier around the ring. Carpentier stopped short and drove a right to the jaw. Dempsey jabbed his opponent. Then the Frenchman rained rights to the head. Carpentier's left eye was now badly cut. Dempsey then missed with two terrific swings.

THIRD ROUND

In the third round, Dempsey was still aggressive but Carpentier neatly ducked, avoiding several hard blows, and succeeded in landing a hard right. Dempsey sent most of his blows to the body. Several hard rights and lefts were exchanged. Dempsey battered his opponent's body in in-fighting and got in an upper-cut just as the bell went.

THE KNOCKOUT

In the fourth round Dempsey kept landing blows on the body and also sent a left upper-cut which made his opponent groggy. Then he floored the Frenchman with a right to the jaw. Carpentier rose, but Dempsey with a short right to the body sent him down for a full count. The fourth round lasted one minute and 16 seconds.

would crash him on the chest which would give the fight to Gink on a foul. Instead of that, Squealer powdered Gink's nose with a right that knocked him cross-eyed also. The fight was now even. Both boys looked like an oculist's last test and were so cross-eyed that they could have watched an airplane race from a rathskellar.

Anyway, they started matching each other with rights and lefts, pumping away like sailors on a waterlogged scow. Gink knocked out all of Squealer's seconds. 2,000 spectators and husted the ringposts with a left swing that would have changed Squealer's shoreline if it ever landed. Squealer flattened all of Gink's friends and the rest of the audience and they'd have been fighting yet if the tide hadn't come in just as the referee decided to go out and meet it.

After that fight, the owner of Roughtown Busy Bee decided not to rent out any more Tuxedos for anything less than fire, famine or earthquakes.

Sailor Takes Rifle In British Consulate

Fireman Off Celtic Prince Doesn't Know Why He Did It

James Molyneux, a fireman off the steamer Celtic Prince, appeared in the British Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of stealing a service rifle from the British Consulate.

The defendant stated that he came to the Consulate to get money and saw the rifle as he was leaving. He said he did not know what impelled him to pick it up, but that he had had a good deal to drink. Afterward he tried to get rid of the weapon by leaving it in a carpenter's shop on Seward Road. The carpenter was frightened and called a Chinese constable, who took Molyneux to the station, and it was then found that the rifle came from the British Consulate.

The Magistrate, Mr. G. W. King, said he was inclined to believe the sailor's story and the larceny charge was dismissed.

Bean Curd Workers On Strike In Nantao; Those Here May Join

Workers in the bean curd shops of Nantao have gone on strike for higher wages and it is rumored that those in the Settlement are to join the movement.

There are some 300 bean curd shops in the Settlement, chiefly in the southern and northern districts, employing over 1,000 men. The men have taken advantage of the advent of the "vegetable moon" to start their demonstration, this being the season when the Chinese live chiefly on vegetable food, eschewing meat and fish on account of the hot weather. It is stated that the light-weight copper situation has brought the matter to a head. Four strikers were sent to jail by the Mixed Court Saturday for intimidation of shop men.

Harding Sees Need Of Providing For Discharged Soldiers

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, July 2.—In signing the Army Appropriations Bill, reducing the regular army to 150,000 men on October 1, President Harding told Congress that he believed that new legislation would possibly be necessary to relieve the Government of the embarrassment caused by the violation of its obligations towards the enlisted men thus discharged.

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, July 2.—Secretary of War Weeks today declared that if the War Department succeeded in meeting the requirements of the Army Bill, 70,000 soldiers and 30,000 civilian employes would be thrown on the open market. Mr. Weeks said he hoped to avoid discharging soldiers against their wishes. The men would be allowed to resign during the next few weeks. It was only routine that requested that discharges should be issued.

Peking Authorises Dyke Building In Manchurian Rivers

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 2.—With regard to the suggestion of the Ministry of the Interior, following a special investigation into the question of the construction of dykes on the rivers in Manchuria, that an appropriation of $400,000 should be made for that purpose, the Cabinet has decided that the Ministry of Finance should instruct the Provincial Financial Department to draw the sum, and that the Central Government would make up any deficiency.

Spanish Community To Celebrate On Santiago Day

The Spanish Community of Shanghai is to celebrate its National Fete day, Santiago Day, on July 25. The program will start with a Solemn High Mass to be sung in the morning at which the Colony will attend.

In the afternoon there will be a gathering of all the members of the colony at a luncheon at which the ladies will wear their classical mantillas and shawls and there will be special Spanish songs and music. The Consul will speak.

In the evening there will be a gala performance at one of the local theaters, showing typical Spanish films of dances and bullfights, besides national dances, songs and music.

It being the intention of the Spanish Colony to make the poor of the Settlement participate in their National Day, all the proceeds of this entertainment will be distributed by the Ladies Committee to the Chinese blind and lepers.

Exporters Expect Termeulen Scheme To Be Carried Out

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 2.—The fact that the resolutions passed by the Congress of the International Chambers of Commerce included one supporting the Termeulen export credits scheme is regarded as most important by those interested in the international credits movement as the success of the scheme depends on the support it receives from business men of all nations. The prospects of France and Italy, both large exporting countries, participating in the scheme are now regarded as hopeful, while America's approval of the scheme is taken as a good augury.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Due to the fact that we are FAIL TO MAKE PROFIT by using a engine, which by its SLOWNESS in work, EXPENSIVE in charges and also DIRTY and NOISY. The engine we are now using is 12-h. p. Having learned that an ELECTRIC MOTOR is a HASTY and ENERGETIC worker, it works QUIETLY, expends ECONOMICALLY, locates only a SMALL SPACE, and is EASY TO OPERATE. By the above several GOODNESS we would like to make a change and it might satisfy us when taking into use. Hope you will send us one for our benefit at your earliest convenience.

Very truly yours,

Shanghai Beats Huron Nine In Holiday Game For Cup

local nine, played, took the trophy until 1919.

The next two Fourth games gave Shanghai possession of the cup and yesterday's game places the prize back in its place at the American club for one more year.

MERRILL GETS LAURELS

The second game yesterday with Shanghai opposing the Cruiser Albany gave Pitcher Merrill the coveted pitcher's honor of throwing a no-run, no-hit game. Every inning for the Albany nine was a nil proposition excepting the fourth, when Fancher drove a fly to left, which Nelson muffed after a short run toward the foul line. Not another man reached first.

Shanghai began scoring against the Huron in the third inning of the game for the cup. Merrill singled to left, stole second and scored on Bills' hit through third. In the fourth four more runs were added when Merrill, Bills, Wilholt, Maloney, and Smith singled followed by a sacrifice foul fly by Bristow and a fumble by McReynolds of Woods grounder sent over the total score of five.

The next inning saw two more tallies put across the pan. Bills walked, Wilholt singled and they both scored on Maloney's second single.

The Navy got to the scoring in the sixth. Three runs were their utmost. It was the only inning in which they landed on the score board. Prehm singled, stole second, took second on Johnson's out and scored on a passed ball. McReynolds walked, Lamke singled and both scored on Roberts drive through Wilholt.

THE ONLY ARGUMENT

In Shanghai's half Bills walked, Wilholt singled to right, and they both scored on Maloney's singled to right. The decision on Wilholt was close. The throw-in from right appeared to have Cy out at the plate, and Umpire Orr ruled him out, when he discovered that Catcher Horner had dropped the ball. He changed his decision then to safe, and a big baseball argument ensued. Maloney, during the talk-fest, came in.

When the decision was finally accepted by the navy men Maloney was sent back to third, the Huron team took the field again, for the last out. Smith next at bat, tried to duck a wild pitch, which hit his bat for a fair ball, and he was thrown out at first before his had gotten up again from the ground.

The last three runs were counted by Bristow, Pruitt and Merrill, on a walk, an error by Miller, Pruitt's grounder, a bad throw, Miller to Horner, and another wild throw Horner to second.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

Mal Maloney broke back into the game Saturday afternoon blossoming forth as a pitcher. He made good. He shut out the Albany team, for a no run and four hit total as compared to Shanghai's 14 runs and 17 safeties.

Maloney had everything that the best of the Whangpoo league twirlers had, and in addition a fine talent for fielding, his position. He grabbed off six infield chances for easy outs, and kept his team on edge for an easy win.

The score by innings:

Shanghai	14	17	0
Albany	0	4	6

Batteries—Maloney and Bristow; Fancher, Hanley and Howard.

In the second game, with Shanghai opposing the gunboat Quiros a victory for the locals was scored up at 18-3. The local men gathered 17 safe hits, four of which were for extra bases. Hendrickson, Nelson and Bills all doubled and Woods drove out a triple. The Quiros defense was weak, and Grier, in the box was not effective.

PROPOSAL MADE FOR OIL REFINERY IN SOUTH LUZON

Present Law Must Be Changed If Richmond Company Plan Is Carried Out

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, June 25.—The Richmond Petroleum Company, which is drilling for oil in the Bondoc peninsula in southern Luzon, has submitted to the insular government a proposal to establish a refinery here, where refined petroleum may be supplied to the army, the navy, the shipping board, and the Philippine government.

If this proposal is adopted, the present law will have to be amended, the provision now being that the aforementioned bodies have preference only in the purchase of crude petroleum.

Acting Governor Yeater is expected to cable the bureau of insular affairs in Washington, asking for instructions regarding the proposal.

The Richmond Company is a branch of the Standard Oil organisation. It is employing more than twenty American engineers and a large crew in the drilling operations in southern Luzon.

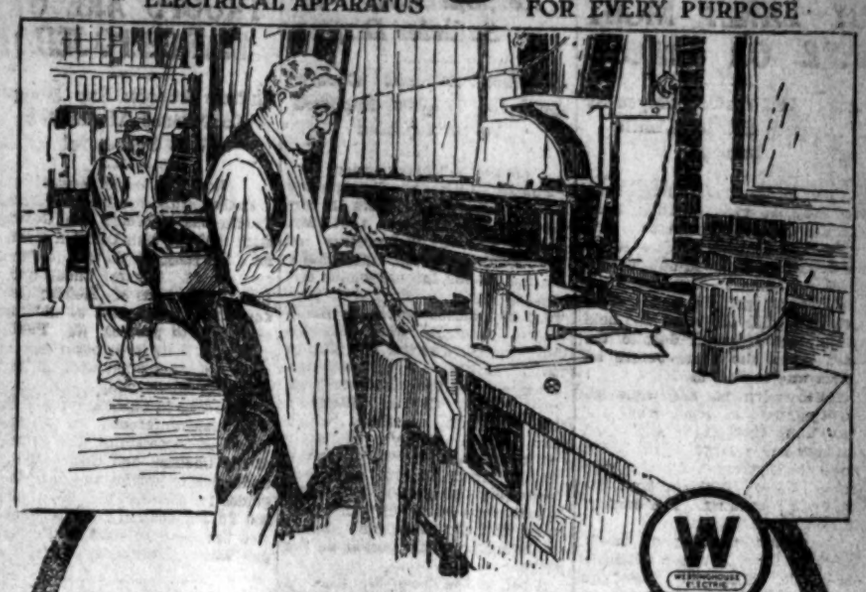
Westinghouse

ELECTRICAL APPARATUS FOR EVERY PURPOSE



Westinghouse Glue Pots and Solder Pots

The great advantage of Westinghouse electrically heated glue pots over the old wet-type pots is so obvious that industrial establishments the world over are rapidly installing them.

Westinghouse electrically heated glue pots are easily connected and started; they quickly bring the glue to the right temperature and keep it there without attention; they cannot burn the glue; they save time, attention and labor.

For melting solder, lead, tin, babbitt and similar metals, Westinghouse electric solder pots are unequalled. They are safe and economical, and by keeping the metal in an even molten state assure a strong joint.

Westinghouse electric glue pots and soldering pots are built with characteristic Westinghouse workmanship. Like all Westinghouse products they are ruggedly made and will stand rough handling.

Westinghouse is unsurpassed in all things electrical.

CROWDS HELD UP BY EARLY NIGHT FIRE ON MALOO

Trams And Traffic Delayed By Blaze Which Does Little Damage

Fire in the Tung Sung Yang tea shop at 118 Nanking Road shortly after 9:30 o'clock last night held up traffic on the Maloo between Shanse Road and Fukien Road for some 20 minutes while the firemen got in such effective work that the blaze was held to its place of origin despite the start given the blaze before an alarm was turned in.

There were no fire walls separating the tea shop from the Pao Foong Company fruit shop on the east and a large tinned goods store on the west but the men from Central Division kept the fire from spreading. The damage will be under $400.

Systematic handling of traffic by police from Louza Station under Chief Inspector Kerrigan made possible the reopening of the Nanking Road soon after the firemen had the blaze under control. While the blaze was at its height the crowds going to theaters and cabarets were detoured into Shanse Road.

The buildings affected by the fire are of flimsy construction and many years old which made the firemen's work more remarkable.

CHILDREN TO SEE QUAKE PICTURES THIS AFTERNOON

Those who, because of other engagement, were prevented from seeing the views of the Kanto earthquake screened at the Olympic last Tuesday night, will have another opportunity, the last in Shanghai, to see the strange country "Where the Mountains Walked" this afternoon at the Victoria Theater in Hongkew.

The matinee will be given at five o'clock, and is designed for the children of Shanghai, who will be admitted at half price, as well as for those who missed the previous showing.

The lecture will be made especially interesting and understandable. The pictures and their interpretation have a distinct educative value in regard to a little known but intensely interesting part of the country and which is the true heart of Asia and the meeting-place of races and religions, as well as the home of the fascinating cave dwellers.

Knowing that adults and children alike appreciate a good wholesome entertainment, Mr Hall has arranged for the clever magician, Mr. Reginald Kay, to give a half-hour's exhibition of his marvellous and puzzling feats. Mr. Kay can pull rabbits out of your coat-sleeve or hatch a full-grown duck from an egg in a minute's time.

Shanghai's children will not wish to miss this combination of instruction and entertainment and in order that the price may keep none away, they will be admitted for fifty cents.

Kuo Tsz-yun Denies Responsibility In Salaries Dispute

Questions Between Government And Teachers Reported To Be Adjusted

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 1.—It appears that the impression exists in certain circles in Peking that Mr. Kuo Tsz-yun, Chief Secretary of the Cabinet, was personally responsible for the statement circulated, early in May, that payment of salaries would be made only to teachers who resumed their classes, whereas Mr. Kuo in reality merely acted as the mouthpiece of the Cabinet. On April 30 the Cabinet discussed the education question, which then seemed capable of early settlement, but it was resolved that payment should be made according to whether or not the classes were resumed," the view being that the teachers should not be paid for the period of the strike.

It fell to the lot of Mr. Kuo, as Secretary of the Cabinet, to make this announcement on the Cabinet's behalf. The indignation of the teachers was aroused by the statement, the blame for which was thrown upon Mr. Kuo, who firmly denies responsibility. Mr. Kuo's high reputation should make his denial a sufficient answer. It is not believed in official circles that personal animus actuates those who are attacking him in this connection. He is the chief connecting link between the Presidency and the Cabinet, being a former student of President Hsu, and possessing the entire confidence of the Premier, and on that account may be singled out for attack really meant for the Government.

It is asserted officially that practically all the main questions between the Government and the teachers have been settled, and that the Government is now leaving minor questions entirely in the hands of the Ministry of Education, which has full responsibility to act on its behalf. The question of the payment of salaries for the period of the strike having been settled, the other resolutions passed by the Cabinet on April 30 do not offer ground for further conflict, unless the unjust charge against Mr. Kuo creates fresh trouble.

TRADE STEADIES IN BRITAIN AS MINES RE-OPEN

Regulations On Movement And Use Of Coal Are Lifted; Defense Body Quits

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 4.—There is a disposition to regard the re-opening of the coal mines today as the precursor of better times generally. Among the hopeful signs during the week end were enquiries from most widely scattered British and foreign centers for British coal. Tonnage has already been chartered to carry out export orders after the most pressing home needs have been supplied.

Commercial circles report greater trade steadiness and the difficulty of reconciling the recent high costs of production with the current market valuations is gradually being overcome.

London, July 2.—The emergency regulations necessitated by the coal dispute have now expired and the restrictions on the movement and consumption of coal have ended. The dispersal of the defence force which was formed in April began today.

July 4, 1921

Spot bar silver is down 3/8d. and forward 1/4d. since Thursday, the last day on which business was done here.

The New York price is 59½ and the London-New York cross rate 375.

The official rates here today were unchanged from Thursday with the exception of the Franc rate which was dropped to 800 and the Yen rate raised to 73¾.

The market here today was firm, particularly for cash.

At the opening business in Sterling was done at 3/6½ and in Gold Dollars at 66 but at the close there were good sellers of Sterling at 3/7¼ for near delivery and 67¼ for Gold Dollars.

There was, however, little business doing as in view of the present unsettled state of the local money market, banks were unwilling to enter into commitments other than those made necessary by their immediate cash requirements.

The London silver market appears still to be steady with a tendency towards higher rather than lower rates.

Hankow Market

The British Chamber of Commerce of Hankow write as follows in their weekly circular dated Hankow, June 29.

FINANCE & MONEY MARKET

The latest London quotations for Bar Silver received are 35⅛d ready, 35d forward being the quotations of June 28. The New York quotation on June 28 was wired as 59 cents. Holders appear disinclined to sell at that level. The New York-London Cross rate has fluctuated during the week but the latest quotation to hand viz. 376⅛ shows a nett improvement of one point since our last report. Chinese market rates. Shanghai Taels 97.525 Local currency $70.65 Native interest 14½ percent per annum.

EXPORTS

The market is quiet but steady for all produce. Recent advances in freight rates to Europe have eliminated all chance of business in that direction for the present.

IMPORTS

Piece Goods:—The market seems more confident and there is plenty of enquiry. Prices are firm with an upward tendency.

Yarn:—The market is quiet with no enquiry.

NEW BANK OPENING

The Bank of China and South Seas, corner of Szechuen and Hankow Roads, will open for business today. Invitations have been issued to local dignitaries to attend the opening reception to be held at 10 o'clock.

SHANGHAI, JULY 5, 1921

WEATHER

Weather fine and hot, with thunderstorms. Regular monsoon to the North of the Formosa Strait. The typhoon threatens to cross Luzon, then the China Sea, about the latitude of Bolinao.

One Thing Missing

ALL nationals joined with Americans yesterday, the Fourth of July, to celebrate the birthday of the United States of America.

The Consular reception, open house at American Clubs and on the warships and the American national game, with an address on Sunday by the Judge of the United States Court for China constituted the official program of the observance of our nation's holiday.

But there was one note missing. The Fourth of July has greater significance than it appeared to have in Shanghai yesterday. It is a day of rejoicing, a day of celebration, true, but it should also—and particularly in Shanghai—be a day for national education, a time to instill into the hearts of American children thousands of miles from home, that spirit of Americanism which made possible our great nation.

Yesterday American children were neglected while their fathers and mothers visited the Consulate-General, the clubs or the baseball game. The future citizens of the United States were not told what July Fourth means, why this particular day of the seventh month of each year is set apart for a celebration.

Americans who "celebrated" yesterday forgot for the moment about American children. And next year provision should be made to tell the children something about the meaning of the Fourth of July.

Patriotic movies, singing of American national songs, a simple and direct talk or two about "The Fourth" and some sort of an entertainment which will bring home the significance of the day are items which might be suggested for the children's part of the Fourth of July celebration next year.

In 1922 the children should not be forgotten.

China's Vulnerable Spots

BY JOSEF W. HALL

(Peking Correspondent of THE CHINA PRESS)

AT the time when Japan's "liberal policy" toward China is being superceded by a revived policy of more or less undisclosed aggression, rumors of Japanese designs upon the ex-enemy concessions and the Chinese Eastern Railway are recurrent. True to form, Japan should begin her offensive at China's most vulnerable spots. The ex-enemy concessions and the Chinese Eastern Railway undoubtedly constitute the most attractive openings for the territorial aggressor in China.

The Chinese government's maladministration of the ex-enemy concessions in Hankow and Tientsin has been paralleled only by its maladministration of the country at large. These settlements have been exploited by whatever official or clique happened to be in control, and the privileges, enjoyed by the residents under German or Austrian control, of a part in their municipal government, have been roughly overridden. Revenue from public utilities has been made the prize booty of militarist politicians, and the utility plants themselves, along with the street and road-work of the concessions, allowed to depreciate heavily.

The administrators of these concessions are now complaining that the heavy taxes levied are insufficient to repair the utility plants and provide adequate municipal improvements, and these complaints are father to the rumors of projected Japanese loans to be secured upon the concessions, meaning of course, upon the public utilities and improvement works of the concessions rather than upon the territory thereof.

Similar corruption and inefficiency in the operation of the Chinese Eastern Railway insofar as its Chinese control is concerned is giving Japan the longed-for opportunity to gain a substantial interest in this line. With a control in the Chinese Eastern assured, Japan will feel content to allow the culmination of a pan-Siberian Russian government, and her prospect of an early hold on the great strategic line separating and joining China and Russia undoubtedly influences her attitude of conciliation toward Chita.

Correction

Our attention has been called to the use of the wrong name in the obituary report furnished to us by the Asia News agency which appeared in Saturday morning's CHINA PRESS. The name should have been Yen Shih-ching, a brother of Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister of Foreign Affairs, who has been in failing health for considerable time.

Mr. Yen was formerly secretary of the Szechuen Railway and served as Customs Taotai and later Customs Superintendent of Szechuen.

The name given by the Asia News was Yen Teh-ching. This gentleman, who is another brother of Dr. Yen, is now in Washington, having been travelling in Europe and America with his family for some time.

BRITISH INCOME TAX

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: You were recently good enough to insert a letter from me on the above subject and as a fresh point has now arisen, I am taking the liberty of writing you again. I am now pleased to inform your readers that as a result of prolonged negotiations with the Inland Revenue, all persons receiving income through a British Trust are entitled to recovery of tax in exactly the same way as if no trust existed.

The position of residents abroad in relation to British Income Tax is, therefore, as follows:

(1) All British subjects can recover the whole or part of any income tax deducted from their dividends, annuities, rents, etc., for 1920-21 and in future, the exact amount depending upon their total income.

(2) All Crown Servants, serving or retired or their widows, missionaries and persons resident abroad for the sake of health can claim as above for three years back.

(3) Every person abroad, British subject or not, can recover the WHOLE of the tax deducted from British War Loans or Exchequer Bonds, and Foreign and Colonial Securities for three years back, whether held in trust or not.

I shall be pleased to advise, without charge, any of your readers who care to write me exactly how any of the above claims should be prepared.

Yours faithfully,
WILFRED T. FRY.

BULL-DOG DRUMMOND

Bull-Dog Drummond. By Cyril McNeile ("Snapper"). New York: George H. Dolan Company.

This is not another story about Yale, but of the thrilling postwar exploits of Captain Hugh Drummond, D. S. O. M. C., late of his Majesty's Royal Lancashires, who returns from the hazardous front to find peace dull and tedious and incredibly stupid. So he inserts an advertisement in the "Agony Column," asking for a permanent position entailing venture and adventure: "legitimate if possible; but crime, if of a comparatively humorous description, no objection; excitement essential." And excitement he gets a-plenty, for first of all he first desperately with the beauteous Miss Benton in the Carlton and then dangerously with death, when she introduces him to a quite harmless-looking gentleman, one hight Lakington, saying to him later: "That is one of the men you will probably have to kill."

She is the one whose answer to his advertisement seems more alluring than the rest, and she dispatches him on a mission in which he worsts the worst of international rogues in a series of battles and escapades involving considerable jaw-breaking, throat-throttling, and a fight over a poison bath. The Bull-Dog is ever suave and calm, and never loses his head even in the deadliest of scraps, always being very meticulous of the diction he uses in the tightest of situations. "Accept my congratulation," says Bull-Dog Drummond, who has been drugged and then awakes from his stupor to receive a staggering blow on the mouth from the villain, "you are the first man who has ever done that, and I shall treasure the memory of that blow." Which is a florid way of saying: "Curse you! You'll be sorry for that some day."

(A statue of George Washington has just been unveiled in Trafalgar Square near to that of Nelson.)

AN EXCHANGE OF IDEAS

Scene. Trafalgar Square. Time: When London sleeps.

Nelson: After the flight of years
we meet at last,
So welcome George and bear
me company.
Washington: Back to the land from which my fathers
sprang
I come the harbinger of lasting peace.
Nelson: Right well do I remember thee friend George.
When first thy name was
bandied mouth to mouth
You fought for England—
fought and proudly bled—
And then I loved thee. I was just a boy
Learning the ways to lead both men and ships.
Then later when you still fought for an England
Far across the broad Atlantic brine
I loved thee not so well!
Washington: I know thee too,
and well I know thy worth.
Thy deeds upon the seas, thy love of right
And thy stern sense of duty oft hath been
The subject of my ever living thoughts.
You fought for England;
fought with valor true,
I fought for England; fought to make her New.
Nelson: 'Tis well. And now we see with eyes more clear.
We both strove for the thing that was the same.
A brotherhood of English
speaking race
Today draws near.
And we who battled 'gainst
the other once
Now know we battled for the self same cause.
We stand together in this
London square
As brothers seeing clearly that this world
Must never more engage in strife if we
Will stand together—symbols of the free.
Washington: Now let us for awhile see with our eyes
The petty things that worry
this sad Earth.
We two are far away, yet ever near,
And so can see with perspective clear.
Nelson. Aye! Let us discuss the present situation.
This latest war was fought
that this small world
Might be a place worthy for heroes to live in.
My friend, believe me
It takes a hero nowaday to live in it.
Washington: 'Twas ever thus.
Great strife must follow strife.
For Labor has its right and Capital;
But each wants more, to give
the other less,
And so it was with us you must confess.
Nelson: What think'st thou of this League of Nations friend?
Washington: 'Twas one named
Woodrow Wilson, I perceive,
Who with an insight, seeing far beyond,
Knows, as we know, that in a league,
That's built on mutual trust
and co-operation,
The future happiness of this world depends.
And now in turn let me put
thee a question:
What think'st thou of our little folk the Jap?
Nelson: I must confess that in my time I knew him not.
It seems that he would overrun the world.
His own small islands are too
limited
To compass his great ambition.
I do perceive that he hath over-run
Parts of your California; also he
Is found in numbers in your
Pacific climes;
He too, is found in that far
land of ours
Eclypt Australia; that land that doth produce
Some worthy cricketers.
George! He is yet too young to take his share
In this world's management.
He is too froward
In making way—that way his own—in China.
It behoveth us upon this point to stand united.
Our little Nipponese, like to the growing child
Must learn the lessons born of discipline.
Let us protect him—but protect him from
The harms of doing great mischief.
Let us a treaty make with him
That will show him as clearly as we see
That to be slaves to duty is to be free.
Washington: Good! I have watched our tiny friends
In their aggressions. I see that we who know
Are agreed.
'Tis well. But now I do perceive
The Dawn is breaking and the little folk
Who scamper o'er that midget sphere
Begin to scamp!
Nelson: We'll cease our conversation till again
London sleeps.
Meanwhile we'll watch, and together stand
Here in this square to show to all that pass
That old foes—new friends—
Old England—New England—
Must forever be united in the bond of brotherhood.
Good Day, George. The Good
Day had come.
Washington: Good Day, Nelson.
The Good Day has come.

The Larger Significance Of July Fourth

By Charles Sumner Lobingier

(Note: This splendid address was delivered at the Shanghai Community Church Patriotic Service on Sunday, July 3, 1921).

THE unveiling in Birmingham, of the Lincoln plaque engraved with the famous Gettysburg oration will terminate a chain of ceremonies in England lasting over a month and including the dedication of Sulgrave Manor, the Washington ancestral home, on June 21 and the unveiling in Trafalgar Square on June 30, of the Washington statue presented by the Virginia Commonwealth. These events give a new significance to our nation's birthday and serve to remind us that the struggle which it primarily commemorates and whose most spectacular feature was the Declaration of Independence, was not a merely local and isolated episode in history. Thanks to the suggestive work of British historians, like Lecky and Sir George Trevalyan, we have come to see that the American Revolution can fully be understood only when studied in connection with preceding acts in the great drama of Anglo-Saxon democracy's unfolding, of which our revolution was an integral part. The colonists of 1776 were largely British; all were at least heirs of English thought and civilisation. And just as the insular Englishmen of the seventeenth century sent their king to the scaffold so the colonial British of the eighteenth, indicated theirs. For the Declaration of Independence was nothing more nor less than a criminal indictment (1) and its glittering generalities (2) are sometimes grossly misapplied. When the Commonwealth leaders captured Charles I they did not assassinate nor torture him—they tried him according to law, found him guilty of a criminal offense and imposed the appropriate penalty. The Continentals of the succeeding century never possessed the person of George III; hence they could not formally try him according to English usage; but they indicted him. In the Declaration of Independence the Continental Congress presents formal and specific charges—not against the mother country, not against the British nation, but against the king. And they do not stop with mere charges; they offer evidence and, having no other tribunal, call the nations to judge. "To prove this" they recite at the close of what lawyers term "the charging part"—"let facts be submitted to a candid world." How careful they were to observe the forms, and even to employ the phraseology of the law:

We must always remember, however, that an indictment is an ex parte document; its office is to state merely the prosecution's case. The important fact about the Declaration of Independence is not whether its recitals are all literally true, but that it was the legal and proper mode of procedure. The men who wrote, and were responsible for it were lawyers (3), not necessarily practitioners but men versed in the eternal principles of the Common Law. It is said that, after the Bible, the book most widely read in the American colonies before the Revolution was Blackstone's Commentaries (4). The men of 1776 desired liberty, but in accordance with, and under the safeguards of, law. And this has been the chief mark of distinction between the struggles of English speaking peoples and those e. g. of Latin-America. The former have adhered strenuously to at least the usages of law.

Always when in Philadelphia I visit that little room in Independence Hall where this Declaration, and later the others of that trinity of American charters—the Articles of Confederation and the Constitution—were framed and adopted. It is indeed one of the most historic places in the western world and sordid must be the soul of the American whose patriotism is not stirred by its associations. But I never appreciated its full significance until I stood within the gray walls of Westminster Abbey whose Chapter House has been aptly called "the cradle of all free parliaments." For it housed the assembled estates which met first in 1265 and later became the mother of all existing legislatures—of our own as well as those of Europe—of the latest, opened the other day in Belfast as well as of that soon to be opened for India.

The political history of the English speaking peoples is one and continuous and their chief glory has been to bequeath democratic institutions to the modern world. Those epoch-making documents which emanated from the "Declaration Chamber" at Philadelphia—great and significant as they were—did not stand alone. They were worthy seccessors of, and in a class with, others which had issued amid the storm and stress of the Anglo-Saxon struggle for liberty—Magna Charta, the Petition of Right, the Agreement of the People, the "Instrument of Government" and the Bill of Rights. And each of them embodied the idea which has thus become the heritage of all those peoples—liberty in accordance with law.

IDEA CIRCLES THE GLOBE

Had this heritage remained their exclusive possession there would be less fitness in our observance of the Fourth of July in the Far East. But these ideals of our liberty loving forbears, their descendants have borne around the world. The century following the Declaration of Independence witnessed the greatest expansion of those peoples. Our American branch, spreading away from the fringe of settlements on the Atlantic coast, swept across the Alleghenies and into the great plains, over the Rockies and beyond—until at last they reached the sea and then not even the great Pacific could bar them from the Far East. And while they were felling the forests and harnessing the rivers, pushing back the arid line,

"Plunging the plough share deep
Into the prairie's thousand centuried sleep,"

they were also building civil communities, founding great states and spreading the Anglo-Saxon idea of liberty in accordance with law.

And while the daughter branch was thus expanding the mother branch was not stagnant. Checked for a time in the West it turned its face to the East and England as well as America profited by the Revolution. From it the former learned so to govern her colonies as to hold them and one of the results is the league of self governing dominions whose representatives gather today in Downing Street. It is a significant fact, moreover, that Britain's proudest achievements abroad followed her defeat at Yorktown. Lord Cornwallis, who there surrendered his sword to Washington, afterward won great renown for the British arms on the battlefields of India and became its first Governor General. When in St. Paul's Cathedral I came upon the statue of Cornwallis, garbed as a Knight of the Garter, and found nearby the statue of Lord Nelson. England's greatest naval hero, I realised how high was the rank now accorded Cornwallis. For he was but one of a series of Far Eastern empire builders—beginning with Clive in the middle of the eighteenth century and including the much maligned Warren Hastings, Sir Stamford Raffles at Singapore, Sir John Bowring at Hongkong, Sir Henry Pottinger and Rajah Brooke. Such were the men who helped to give Britain that mighty dominion so eloquently described by our own Daniel Webster,

"Whose morning drum beat, following the sun
And keeping company with the hours,
Encircles the earth with one continuous and unbroken strain
Of the martial airs of England."

But they did more than this for in bringing British rule into the Far East they brought with it peace and order among warring tribes and justice for oppressed peoples. The pax Britannica is as well established in this part of the world under King George V as was the pax Romana under Augustus Caesar. These British pioneers, in other words, have been doing for the Far East, though in a different way, what our humbler statesmen of backwoods and frontier—our Seviers and Robertsons, our Clarkes and Houstons, our Whitmans and Fremonts had been doing for the wilds of Western America—all were extending the sway of the Anglo-Saxon notion of liberty in accordance with law.

The Fourth of July, then, is no mere local or provincial holiday; it commemorates rather a mighty landmark in the evolution of Anglo-Saxon liberty and it was not without ample reason that a great British journalist, the late Mr. Stead, proposed it as a common holiday of all English speaking peoples. Nor is its real significance confined to these; it belongs rather to all those peoples who have become the heirs of Anglo-Saxon thought and civilisation, among whom are several peoples of the Far East.

FAR EASTERN SIGNIFICANCE OF THE DAY

Indeed the day has already acquired a place in Far Eastern annals. On July 3, 1844—just seventy-seven years ago today—at Wang Hia, a suburb of Macao, representatives of America and China signed their first treaty—a document which not only marked "the beginning of recognised official relations between" them (5) but afforded a model for other nations (6) in their dealings with China. For the treaty of Wang Hia was not a grant of concessions forcibly wrung from a weak adversary but an agreement between equals, reciprocally conceding rights and privileges which they were willing to define and publish.

On July 4, 1868, the Japanese shogun's forces were finally defeated at Uyeno, (7) the old feudal regime was overthrown and the era of new Japan commenced. But for the origin of the movement which culminated on that day we must go back fifteen years earlier to our Commodore Perry who opened Japan to the world. Truly July 4 is a notable date in Japanese history.

A former Philippine Commissioner who is, incidentally a good friend of mine, once contributed an article to one of our leading American magazines entitled, "Shall the Filipinos Have a Fourth of July?" But it has always appeared strange to me that he could not see that they already had one. For it was on July 4, 1901 that civil government was inaugurated and Anglo-Saxon political institutions established in the Philippines. July 4, 1902 witnessed the promulgation of the Philippine Bill, a successor of those great political documents of which the Declaration of Independence was a type. July 4, 1903 saw the completion of the Pacific cable placing the Philippines in hourly touch with the progressive civilisation of the West. Who shall say that the Fourth of July is not a day for Filipinos?

THE SPREAD OF ENGLISH

And even more than the ideas and institutions which the English speaking peoples have brought to the Far East, their language has entered into the life of its inhabitants and is fast becoming its lingua franca. In the Philippines, English is the sole medium of instruction in the public schools which are attended by nearly a million Filipino children. In Japan English is the first language taught in the government schools after the vernacular. And in China, as we know, practically all the higher institutions of learning are staffed by English speaking instructors.

Now English is a great vehicle of democratic ideas. It is the language not alone of the charters, but of the prophets, of democracy—of Cromwell and Washington, of Lincoln and of Gladstone as well as of Shakespeare and Emerson, of Burns and of Whitman.

And so on this great Anglo-American anniversary let us emphasise not our differences, nor any traditional prejudices, but our kinship, our common achievements and our common heritage from the mother country whose hand has rocked the cradle of so many democracies and whose greatest poet laureate sang to her

"Strong mother of a Lion-line,
Be proud of those strong sons of thine
Who wrench'd their rights from thee."

"Whatever harmonies of law
The growing world assume,
Thy work is thine—The single note
From that deep chord which Hampden smote
Will vibrate to the doom."

1.—"Under the amending touch of Congress the Declaration of Independence assumed, and kept, the shape of an indictment against the King." Trevalyan, The American Revolution (New ed.) II. 162.

2.—"Its constitution the glittering and sounding generalities of natural right which make up the Declaration of Independence." Rufus Choate.

3.—Cf. Maine. Ancient Law, 95, where the author speaks of the "Colonial lawyers who guided the course of events in America."

4. "Burke was informed by an eminent bookseller that in no branch of his business, after tracts of popular devotion, were so many volumes exported to the colonies as those which related to the law. Nearly as many copies of Blackstone's Commentaries had been sold in America as in England. So eager were the colonists to read our treatises on jurisprudence that they had fallen into the way of reprinting them across the Atlantic." Trevalyan, The American Revolution, 1,72.

TEXACO

TEXACO THUBAN COMPOUND
a liquid lubricant for—
Differentials, Worm Drives, and Transmissions of Automobiles

Texaco Thuban Compound is a heavy, mineral lubricant—not a grease.

It gives the best obtainable lubricating service because it sticks to gear teeth. No grade, speed, nor any other adverse condition will make "Thuban" sling off. It forms a protective cushion of oil which prevents metal contact when the gears mesh, thus reducing friction and increasing power. Notice the decrease of noise when "Thuban" is used. There is no clash and grind when the gears shift.

A very little "Thuban" goes a long way. You need only enough to bathe the gear teeth as they revolve in the power housing. This is because of its adhesive power which keeps a film on them at all times. "Thuban" is a real economy because you must use it sparingly for best results.
